Biographical Sketch

Ms Terri Wilde is currently the Budget Analyst for the Army Parachute Team and has been working for the Army and Air Force as a civilian for over 30 years. Throughout her career she has served in the Resource Management field and currently her primary responsibility is to ensure that the funding requirements are met and managed properly for all the Team Projects and activities.

Terri has spent her entire life associated with the military and is very fortunate to have lived in Panama, Germany, Italy and England; as well as worked at the Airborne & Special Operations Test Board at Ft Bragg, NC, the Aviation Systems Command at St Louis, MO, and Pope Air Force Base, NC and the United Kingdom. She attended the Universities of Arkansas and Maryland / Munich to study Business and Accounting and has been an active member of the American Society of Military Comptrollers most of her career.

Her awards consist of 9 Civilian of the Year and 7 Civilian of the Quarter awards and an Air Force Exemplary Civilian Service Award.

In the early 80's she completed the Accelerated Free Fall course and made 15 skydives and 13 Static Line Jumps at Ft Bragg and Bad Toelz Germany.

The thing she is most proud of is her family. Terri enjoys playing Golf and watching her children and grandchildren play baseball.
