

Biography

Captain Peter Doblár

Operations Officer

U.S. Army Parachute Team, "Golden Knights"

Personal Statistics

Hometown: Seattle, Washington

School Attended: Georgia Institute of Technology; University of Texas at Austin

Biographical Sketch

Growing up in Seattle, Washington, Captain Peter Doblár is serving on the team as the Headquarters Company Commander and the assistant Operations Officer. After earning a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering from Georgia Tech, he began his graduate degree at the University of Texas. While there, he commissioned through the Army Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) as an Engineer Officer in 2011; earning a Master's of Science in Mechanical Engineering.

CPT Doblár's assignments include Engineer Dive Detachment Executive Officer in Panama City, Florida; Brigade Engineer for the Joint Detention Group in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba; the Commander of the 74th Engineer Dive Detachment in Kuwait and Ft. Eustis, Virginia; and with the Asymmetric Warfare Group working as a Troop Executive Officer, Operational Advisor, and Troop Commander, deploying globally.

His awards and decoration include the Meritorious Service Medal, Coast Guard Meritorious Team Commendation, Army Commendation Medal (2 OLC), Army Achievement Medal (2 OLC), the National Defense Service Medal, Afghanistan Campaign Medal, Global War on Terror Expeditionary and Service Medal, Military Outstanding Volunteer Service Medal, Army Service Ribbon, and four Overseas Service Ribbons. CPT Doblár has also earned the Ranger Tab, Parachutist Badge, Air Assault Badge, German Armed Force Proficiency Badge (Gold), Kuwaiti Dive Badge, Naval Diving Officer Badge, and Special Operations Combat Dive Badge.

CPT Doblár is married to his wife of three years, Sarah.

